December 2011

Wish-List Meet To-Do List

As the weather outside cools and the first signs of winter begin to show, there is just as much longing amongst consumers to look great and feel confident with their bodies, as there were during the beach-going vacation months. Trends show that during the holidays more and more people are having cosmetic surgery treatments. As the holidays and New Year approach, we historically see a spike in cosmetic surgery procedures, making it a great time to mark this off your "To-Do" list, and feel confident and more beautiful as you focus on your Wish List! Let us help you keep your 2012 New Year's resolution to become as beautiful as you feel!

CHEERS! We cannot stress enough the importance of finding a qualified surgeon and having realistic expectations. Drs Stevens, Stoker and Spring are all Board Certified Plastic Surgeons that hold the highest credentials and international experience to make you feel safe and confident when selecting a surgeon. Let us cheer you on in the process of selection...especially during such a hectic time of year. We offer one-less-thing for you to worry about, freeing up more time for you to celebrate the holidays with that special someone!

OLDIES BUT GOODIES- Plastic surgery procedures are increasingly common among seniors. According to the American Society for Aesthetic Plastic Surgery, in 2010, 84,685 Americans age 65 or older had cosmetic surgery. That's a 21-percent increase from 2009, when 69,685 older Americans had surgery. Those who are over 65 represent about 7 to 8 percent of all procedures. The most common procedures among seniors are facelift, eyelid surgery, liposuction, breast reduction, and breast lift. What explains the increase? Frankly, seniors are staying healthier longer, so surgery in seniors is more common - but is it safe? Yes, as long as patients over the age of 50 get a medical clearance from their doctor, are 100% honest in giving their history to the plastic surgeon, and understand that healing may take a bit longer than a younger patient. Just because a person is 75 years old, doesn't mean he/she has to be happy or content looking that age, especially since their length of life is increasing. Call today to let us help you look young and vibrant!

Dear Charlie:

Anything new in skin care for younger patients? I'm only 28 but want to improve my complexion. ~MaryAnn

MaryAnn:

You sound like a perfect candidate for Clear & Brilliant, by Solta. Everyone can benefit - but it is especially ideal for those in the 20-40 age group. This mild DIODE laser helps younger clients attain a dewy glow. Many patients report they no longer needed to wear foundation after being treated! We are the 1st Plastic Surgery office in California to have this technology - which means more experience for you! This is ideal for young men and women that aren't ready for skin resurfacing - but need more than just regular facials. I suggest 4-6 treatments (2 weeks apart with no downtime). It works on all skin types too! Clear + Brilliant targets tone, texture and fine lines, leaving you with clear and brilliant skin!

The name says it all! ~Charlie

THE Perfect Gift
to yourself this Holiday?

Dr. Grant Stevens was featured in the LA Times this past August, for his vast experience with all the non-surgical options for looking younger. If you're not quite ready for surgery, or simply can't afford it at this time, why not consider Liquid Facial Rejuvenation?! By using a carefully selected combination of Dysport or Botox, coupled with volumizing fillers – you can take years off your appearance! In the last decade, these non-invasive procedures have skyrocketed in popularity, from 5.5 million performed in 2000 to 11.6 million in 2010 - a 110 percent increase, according to the American Society of Plastic Surgeons. Part of the reason for the popularity of injectables is the cost. Typically liquid facelifts run about half the cost of surgery, depending upon the areas of the face affected and technique used. Best of all... there's a cumulative effect (aka memory results!) Now THAT's a winning combination!

Cheers: Now is the time

The holidays are a particularly good time for reassessment. Change is a powerful way to start the New Year. And, for many of us, our resolution will be centered around being our best. Our feelings about ourselves determine how we perceive our lives. Although this is a magical time of year, for many it is often anticipated with disappointment or hesitation, due to our poor self image. This is the time to call upon our help, and let us guide you through your cosmetic options and reach those goals so that you can reach for those holiday dreams. Let us help you achieve and maintain self-confidence through beauty and a positive self image. We appreciate your business and your trust in allowing us to provide all of your aesthetic surgery and skin care needs. Your patronage is valued and for this we wish to extend our sincere gratitude. Beauty is natural and unrehearsed, so we promise to bring out the very best in you, naturally, and make you look as good as you feel. We all wish to look our best- especially during the holidays. It's time to stop wishing and start doing it and living it!

THE MAN IN THE Mirror

Plastic surgery procedures for men – both surgical and non-invasive – increased a whopping 88 percent over the past 13 years with men now having more than 750,000 procedures a year, about eight percent of the U.S. total, according to Grant Stevens, M.D., F.A.C.S. Time, heredity, sunlight, illness, smoking, good fortune and bad – all leave their marks on the face. People make instant judgments about one another's age, health, mood, personality and character – often based solely on facial features, and expressions. Precisely why, after having facial rejuvenation, men often feel more confident at work, which directly leads to being more successful along with an overall improved well-being. Quite simply, men feel that they “wear their resumes on their face”. Why not match your professionalism and good health to a younger looking face? ... and face 2012 AND the boardroom with mega-confidence!
